ABOUT
The Roycroft Campus Film Society

In 1998, a group of local film enthusiasts formed an organization which they named The Aurora Art Films Society (AAF). It's mission, to bring quality foreign and independent arts films to East Aurora. Following screenings, a dinner and discussion at the Roycroft Inn allowed members to interpret and analyze the films. In 2009, the AAF worked with the Aurora Historical Society on fundraising efforts to restore the original Margaret Evans Price murals that had been removed from the Aurora theatre in 1950. Once restored, the murals were returned to the theatre lobby and are still on display. In mid-2011, the AAF asked the Roycroft Campus Corp. about a possible collaboration between the two organizations. The founder of the Roycroft, Elbert Hubbard and his son, Elbert II, had brought film to the area and helped in the construction of the Aurora Theater. In 2015, the name was changed to the Roycroft Campus Film Society (RFS) with its association to the Roycroft Campus. In March of 2023, we celebrated our 25th anniversary of inception having shown films from 33 different countries, and passing our 200th movie screening. The Society looks to continue to expand in both the viewing and education of quality cinema to the region.

WHAT IS
The Roycroft Campus Film Society

- A non-profit organization that wants to spread film appreciation, enrichment, and enjoyment
- A group of people who love quality independent, foreign and classic films.
- Individuals who want to discuss and share their love of film with other like-minded folk.
- An organization open to all who would like to see good movies close to home – but not at home – followed by a stimulating discussion.

BECOME A MEMBER

Becoming a member of the RFS enables the Society to continue screening quality movies that might not be available at a local theater. The annual membership helps to cover basic operations of the club, especially the cost of film licenses and equipment rental.

Benefits of membership:
- Discounted tickets to screenings.
- Discounts at local restaurants
- Advance calendar of events.
- Monthly e-newsletters on upcoming films, reviews and summaries.
- Special invitations to private screenings and social events for RFS members only.
